GARDENING NOTES. JANUARY AND FEBRUARY.

ALL vacant ground should be dug or trenched. Peas and beans may be sown on warm borders, and hardy fruit trees planted. In February gooseberry, raspberry, and currant cuttings should be put in. Begin the spring planting of potatoes, and sow Brussels sprouts and broccoli in a frame and broad beans in the open ground. Protect mushroom beds by a thick covering. Plant hardy roses, and put dahlia roots in heat for cuttings. Cut back old fuchsias and place in heat, and press down carnations and phloxes raised above the ground, putting a little fine mould around them. Rake over the bulb beds; keep the surface loose.

HIS GOOD DEED.

HIS GOOD DEED.

A GLASGOW lady had the misfortune to lose her season ticket for the railway. On the same evening she had a call from two boys, the older of whom at once handed her the lost ticket.

The lady, delighted at the prompt return of her property, offered the boy a shilling for his trouble.

The lad refused to accept it, telling the lady he was a Boy Scout, and was not allowed to accept any return for a service rendered. But just as the coin was about to be put back in the purse the boy suddenly said: "But my wee brither's no' a Scout."

"SING A SONG OF SIXPENCE."

HERE is an explanation of the rhyme so well known in every nursery. The four-and-twenty blackbirds represent the four-and-twenty hours. The pie is the world. The top crust is the sky. The opening of the pie the dawn, when the birds begin to sing, a sight fit for a king. The king in his counting-house is the sun. The money the golden sunshine. The queen is the moon. The honey is the moonlight. The maid in the garden is the day-dawn, the clothes she hangs out are the clouds. The bird who so tragically ends the song by nipping off her nose is the hour of sunset.

FOODS IN SEASON. MARCH AND APRIL.

MEAT.—Beef, lamb, mutton, pork, veal. Game and Poultry.—Chickens, ducklings, fowls, goslings, pigeons, rabbits, wood pigeons. Fish.—Brill, bream, crabs, cockles, crayfish, dory, eels, flounders, halibut, lobsters, ling, whitebait, whiting. Vegetables.—Asparagus, beans, French beans, beet, coleworts, endive, fennel, leeks, celery, artichokes, cabbage, cresses, cucumbers, peas, radishes, seakale, spinach, tomatoes. Fruit.—Apples, nuts, grapes, oranges, lemons, peaches, cherries, apricots, rhubarb, early strawberries. Pears are now becoming scarce. Dried Fruits.—Almonds, brazils, dates, figs, muscatels, plums, prunes.

GARDENING NOTES. MARCH AND APRIL.

PLANT evergreens. Vegetable marrows, peas, asparagus, carrots, lettuce, beet, radishes, and late broccoli should be sown. Plant the main crop of potatoes. Cucumbers and melons should also be sown in a cool hot bed. Plant out succession lettuce, and sow the main crop of scarlet runners. Marrow peas should be sown on the north border. Prick out the celery plants and rake and fork up the beds. Summer spinach may be sown in drills on open ground. Examine fruit trees every day for insects, syringing with tobacco water where necessary. Finish pruning the rose trees. Plant out the main crop of violets, and pot azaleas.

ALL WAS THEN QUIET.

ALL WAS THEN QUIET.

THE drama was interesting, but a young man in the pit had seen it before. He was anxious that those around him should know this fact, for, in an audible voice, he announced what was coming next. He had a pretty girl with him, and he was trying to amuse her.

At length he said, "Did you ever try listening to a play with your eyes shut? You've no idea how queer it seems."

A middle-aged man in front twisted himself in his seat and glared.

"Young man," said he, "did you ever try listening to a play with your mouth shut? You've no idea how nice it is."

TO TEST LINEN HANDKERCHIEFS.

WHEN buying handkerchiefs, to find out if they really are linen, moisten the finger and press on them. If the wet penetrates the handkerchief at once it is linen, but if cotton it takes some seconds to wet through the thread.

TEMPERATURE OF ADULTS.

THE ordinary temperature of an adult when a thermometer is placed in the armpit is 98.4 degrees; in the mouth, 99.5 degrees; the blood is about 100 degrees. Blood heat is marked on the thermometer at 99 degrees Fahrenheit.

FOODS IN SEASON. MAY AND JUNE.

MEAT.—Beef, lamb, mutton, veal, venison. Game and Poultry.—Chickens, ducklings, fowls, goslings, pigeons, wood pigeons, rabbits, turkey poults. Fish.—Chub (after 15th June), crabs, crayfish, eels, herrings, lobsters, prawns, salmon, smelts, soles, trout turbot. Vegetables.—Artichokes, asparagus, beans, early cabbages, new carrots, cauliflowers, cucumbers, fennel, kidney beans, lettuces, mint, cress, mushrooms, parsley, peas, early potatoes, radishes, savoy, small salad herbs, sorrel, spinach, turnips, vegetable marrows. Fruits.—Apples, cherries, green gooseberries, French currants, melons, pears, strawberries.

GARDENING NOTES. MAY AND JUNE.

THIN out onions, turnips, carrots, spinach, beetroot, parsnips, and other crops, and hoe continually. Prick out young cabbages, savoy, and other greens. Sow more peas. Make up bed of dried leaves and stable manure for cucumber and vegetable marrows. Remove from fruit trees all superfluous blossoms, buds and shoots. Water strawberries while in flower, remove surplus runners. Propagate by cuttings, dahlias, pansies, double wallflowers, rocket, scarlet lychnis, and lobelias by dividing the roots. Fuchsias, calceolarias, geraniums, heliotrope, dahlias, and other attractive flowers may be planted out.

WHEN CONCEIT WAS DISILLUSIONED.

WHEN CONCEIT WAS DISILLUSIONED.

A VISITOR who was fond of a game of billiards was staying in a small town, and while there, wishing to pass the time, he found a new and very excellent billiard-table. With one of the natives he played several games, but in each instance the countryman won.

At last the visitor remarked, "Do you know, I've a reputation at home as a good billiard-player, but I'm not in your class. How long have you played?"

"Oh, for a while back," replied the native. "I dinna want to hurt yer feelings, but you're the first fellow I ever beat."

THE ONLY MONUMENT TO ADAM.

IS it not generally known that there is a solitary monument to Adam? It is to be found at Baltimore, where it has been standing for years, and consists of a square block of stone surmounted by a sundial.

The inscription, like the block of stone of which the monument consists, is simplicity itself: "To the Memory of Adam, the First Man."

The stone carries no statue, or even a head in relief, of the father of the human race. Nor does argument and dispute pass by the local celebration of "Adam Day."

FOODS IN SEASON. JULY AND AUGUST.

MEAT. — Beef, buck-venison, lamb, mutton, veal. Game and Poultry.— Black game (from 20th August), grouse (from 12th August), chickens, fowls, green geese, pigeons, turkey poults, quails, rabbits. Close time for wild birds ends 31st July. Fish.—Carp, cod, crayfish, dory, eels, flounders, haddock, herrings, lobsters, mackerel, mullet, pike, plaice, prawns, salmon, skate, soles, tench. Vegetables.—Artichokes, beans, carrots, cauliflowers, onions, peas, potatoes, radishes, salsify, turnips, mushrooms. Walnuts for pickling. Fruit.—Apples, apricots, bilberries, ripe gooseberries, melons, nectarines, peaches, pears.

GARDENING NOTES. JULY AND AUGUST.

ATTEND to insects and useless growths. Gooseberry and raspberry bushes may be thinned. Train vines and thin plums and stone fruit generally. Summer bulbs may be taken up when they cease to flower. Saffron, crocus and autumn bulbs may be planted. In August plant strawberry runners in new beds. Cabbages intended for next spring should be sown by the middle of the month. Top the beans that are in flower. Get out a supply of early coleworts. Biennials that are large enough should be planted. Increase pansies by cuttings and shade those in flower; plant seedlings. Go over the dahlias; remove useless leaves and branches.

THE SHREWD SCOT'S FORETHOUGHT.

SHREWD SCOT'S FORETHOUGHT.

ONE Sunday there had been a special preacher at the village kirk, and his sermon, on behalf of a certain charity, had been particularly eloquent. After the service two farmers walked home.

"Weel, weel," said one slowly, "it was a gran' discoorse."

"Ay, was it," replied the other sadly. "Mon, he's got a' the silver Ah hed in ma pocket. It's terrible expensive tae hear a preacher like thon."

"'Deed, an' a bit it is,' agreed the first. "Bit Ah've heard him before. When Ah set oot Ah took a' the money oot o' ma Sunday breeks."

THE WOMAN OF SPAIN.

IN Spain a woman can go nowhere unaccompanied by her servant. If she goes out to tea she must wait for the servant to fetch her home. If she visits a dentist, she must never move without her servant, and never go to any kind of amusement.

SUPPLIES MANY NEEDS.

DATES form the staple food of the Arabs, and are served in some form at every meal. Syrup and vinegar are made from old dates. The date-stones are used as beads and counters by the Arab children.

Scorzonera may be in. Fruit.—Apples, bananas, damsons, filberts, grapes, medlars, melons, mulberries, nectarines, peaches, pears, plums, quinces and walnuts. Dried Fruits.—Almonds, figs, plums, muscatels.

GARDENING NOTES. SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER.

WHEN the weather is dry take up the early potatoes and store them in earth or straw. Sow more French beans in heated pits, and plant more cabbage, lettuce and endive. Onions should be stored in a cool, dry place. Earth up celery. Clear and trench up the ground directly a crop is off; manure it ready for the spring. Gather all the apples and pears intended for winter use and carefully prune the smaller fruit trees. During October gather in potatoes, carrots, beetroots, and red cabbage. Cabbages, savoys and kale should be earthed up as soon as they begin to grow after planting out.

A BAD IMITATION.

A BAD IMITATION.

ONE night, Fechter, Sothern, and Buckstone, on leaving the Haymarket Theatre, discovered a bill-sticker posting an election placard on the front of that sacred house of comedy.

"How dare you, sir," Buckstone said, in his peculiar guttural and jerky manner, "post bills on my theatre?"

The man paid no attention.

"You miserable bill-sticker!" said Buckstone. "If you don't desist, you scoundrel, I'll have you locked up."

Whereupon the man said, "I'll have you locked up for givin' such a bad imitation of Buckstone—could do it better myself.

SOME USES FOR LEMONS.

GARGLE a bad sore throat with a strong solution of lemon-juice and water. The juice of half a lemon in a cup of black coffee, without sugar, will cure sick headache. Lemon-juice and salt will remove iron-rust. Wash fruit-stained hands in lemon-juice to take out the stains. A strong, unsweetened lemonade, taken before breakfast, will prevent and cure a bilious attack. Lemon-juice mixed very thick with sugar will relieve that tickling cough that is so annoying. Lemon-juices added to the fruit juices that do not jelly readily, such as cherry and strawberry, will cause them to jelly.

MEAT.—Beef, mutton, pork, veal, all in high season; doe-venison. Game and Poultry.—Woodcocks and game of all kinds, landrails, wild duck, teal, snipes and widgeon, pheasants, grouse (till 10th December), goose, turkey. Fish.—Brill, carp, cod, crab, eels, halibut, herrings, lobster, mullet, plaice, perch, pike, smelts, soles, turbot, whiting. Vegetables.—Artichokes (Jerusalem), beet, Brussels sprouts, cucumbers, tomatoes, etc. Fruit.—Apples, bananas, damsons, figs, filberts, grapes, carrots, cauliflowers, celery, cardoons, medlars, oranges, pears, pomegranates, raisins, walnuts. Especially in season.—Geese, turkeys, pheasants, pike.

GARDENING NOTES. NOVEMBER AND DECEMBER.

PLANT out lettuce in warm borders. Dig all ground thoroughly that is not wanted for planting until the spring, leaving the earth rough, so that it is exposed to the frost and the grubs are destroyed. Pot all plants that require protection. Shelter choice or tender plants from frost. Dahlia roots should be taken up now and preserved from the frost. Inspect fruit in storeroom at frequent intervals. Place auriculas in winter quarters. Pinks grown in open borders if potted now and placed indoors will bloom well in the spring. Roses may be planted. See that all plants in pits and frames have very little water.

CARLYLE COULD NOT RESIST IT.

CARLYLE COULD NOT RESIST IT.

CARLYLE, when a young man, walked from Ecclefechan to Edinburgh—more than 80 miles—to consult a doctor about his health. The doctor said too much tobacco was his trouble.

Carlyle gave up smoking, and some time afterwards he went for a walk in a wood. Here, beneath a tree, he saw lying a pipe with tobacco and matches. He remembered that the medical prescript had done him no good, and came to the conclusion that the whole affair was providential. So, without further thought, he lit the pipe, and never again gave up smoking.

A NERVOUS BABY'S BATH.

TO overcome the fear of the bath which afflicts some nervous children, cover the bath with a sheet, and lower the little one into the water, sheet and all. He does not see the bath, and, coming gradually into the warm water, he enjoys it.

LETTING THE CAT OUT OF THE BAG.

IN olden times it was a trick among country wags to substitute a cat for a young pig. If anyone bought the supposed pig without examination he was fooled; if he opened the sack he "let the cat out of the bag."

The destiny of the child is always the work of the mother.

SIMPLE AND INEXPENSIVE DISHES.

When frying fish, dip it in milk instead of batter or egg before covering it with breadcrumbs. This method is more economical than either, and makes the fish taste better.

* * *

Make two jellies, one red, one yellow, chop and mix them. Whip a gill of cream very stiff. Put on the jelly in uneven shapes, and stick an almond or two in each shape. This is a very attractive dish.

* * *

Vegetarian gravies can be made of the water rice, macaroni, haricot beans, and peas have been boiled in, thickening it with a little cornflour and flavouring with a little onion, fried brown, pepper and salt, and colouring with gravy mixture or a little burnt brown sugar.

* * *

Try this syrup roll. Make a nice suet pastry, roll out thinly, and spread with a mixture of 2oz. currants, two chopped apples, two tablespoonfuls of syrup or treacle, the grated rind of half a lemon, and a pinch of spice. Roll up, close the edges firmly, tie in a floured cloth, and boil for two hours.

* * *

Peel and core six apples, and bake them in a syrup made of two tablespoonfuls of sugar and two cups of water until almost tender. Butter a baking dish, put in the apples, fill the centres with stewed dates, and cover with a stiff froth made of the whites of two eggs and one tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Bake for ten minutes.

* * *

To make walnut cakes, beat ½lb. butter to a cream, add ½lb. castor sugar, then ½lb. flour mixed with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; mix thoroughly, then add ½lb. chopped walnuts (with their skins removed), a teaspoonful of flavouring (lemon, almond, or vanilla) and four eggs well beaten. Bake in a quick oven. When cool cover with icing, drop half-walnuts on the top.

* * *

Boil some sausages in their skins for about twenty minutes, just covered with water; when done, the skins will come off easily. Line the bottom of a piedish with mashed potatoes, put in a layer of sausage-meat, then a layer of sliced tomatoes seasoned with salt and pepper. Repeat until the dish is full; the top layer should consist of potato. Mark with a fork, and bake in a hot oven until golden brown.

French toast is made by dipping slices of bread into an egg-and-milk batter. Put on a griddle sheet to brown, spread lightly with fresh butter, and serve at once.

* * *

Unripe bananas may be used as a vegetable. Cut the fruit in half and stew for twenty-five minutes in just a little water, drain, and cover with cream sauce, such as is used for cauliflower. Serve hot.

* * *

When making a beefsteak pudding, cut a piece about the size of a florin out of the paste at the bottom of the basin. Put the meat in, and cover in the usual manner. It will be found that the pudding will take an hour less to cook, thus saving time and coal.

* * *

A tasty gooseberry dish can be prepared as follows:—Cook some of the fruit in a very little water, add sugar to taste, and turn into a pie-dish. Pour over a cornflour mixture (as for blancmange, only made rather thinner), put a few pieces of butter on top, and brown slightly in the oven.

* * *

Onion dumplings are delicious with soup or stewed rabbit. Chop very finely ¼lb. beef suet, also chop very finely ¼lb. onions, add a pinch of salt and pepper and ½lb. flour. Mix all together with a little milk or water (rather soft), make into tiny balls, and boil for half an hour in the same liquid as the rabbit is being stewed in.

* * *

Steep the onions in brine composed of a quarter of a pound of salt dissolved in a quart of boiling water. Let them remain a day or two according as it is wished to have them more or less mild. Drain them dry, spread singly, and when quite dry put them in hot pickle, in the proportion to every quart of vinegar one ounce each of horseradish (sliced), black pepper, allspice, salt, and mustard seed.

* * *

Select eight large potatoes, peel, boil, and mash them with a fork; rub in ½oz. butter, a teacupful of milk (warm), pepper and salt to season, and, lastly, thoroughly mix in 2oz. finely-grated cheese. Place the mixture in a pie-dish and sprinkle fine breadcrumbs and more cheese over the top; brown and thoroughly heat in the oven. Serve in the same dish in which it is cooked. It should be eaten very hot.

The greatest of conquests is self-conquest.

HOW TO BECOME AND REMAIN HEALTHY.

Olive oil is a great flesh-builder. When used externally it should be applied once a day. Rub the oil into the skin with a gentle rotary motion. Too frequent applications, however, will darken the skin.

* * *

Doctors are daily discovering new virtues in the internal administration of glycerine. As a substitute for cod-liver oil it exerts a beneficial influence on nutrition, increasing the weight and restoring sleep and appetite. It is also accredited with excellent diuretic properties.

* * *

Perfect breathing is not natural to most men and women of sedentary occupation and indoor life. It is advisable at intervals throughout the day to rise, throw back the shoulders, and draw in ten or twelve deep, slow respirations, holding the breath for three or four seconds each time the lungs are filled. These exercises should always be done with the mouth closed, for the nose is the only proper channel for the passage of the air.

* * *

Every time the heart contracts it does from one and a half to two foot pounds of work. A man's heart when he started running for a train was doing 152 foot pounds, and when he caught the train the beat has increased to 360 foot pounds. The total extra work done by the heart of a man who cycled 2,000 feet up a one-in-ten hill in three and a quarter minutes was one and one-eighth foot tons. Pain is protective; it is an incentive to rest. Half an hour's rest daily for a year saves the heart 219,000 foot pounds. One hour's rest every Sunday afternoon saves 62,400 foot pounds, and one day in bed each week saves 998,400 foot pounds in a year.

* * *

By way of preventing chill in an ordinary sense, it may be said there is great need in the winter season for persons who are liable to suffer to see that their general health is maintained. Any lowering of their system will enable their enemy speedily to find them out, and so to lay them low in the grip of the ailments to which chill is the preliminary stage. In a general way we should follow here the lesson taught us by nature of increasing the amount of the fatty foods we consume, seeing that fat is a substance which, in addition to being an energy, also stands in the highest rank of those foods which, chemically consumed in the body, produce heat.

After doing any kind of dirty work well grease the hands with vaseline or cold cream, rubbing it well in, especially round the finger-tips. Then wash in warm water with either soap or oatmeal, and the hands will be perfectly clean.

* * *

To keep the feet dry and warm in wet weather, take a sheet or piece of brown paper (the thicker the better), double it, and cut out the shape of, and a size smaller than, the foot and place inside the stockings. This will keep the feet dry and warm, and will prevent cramp or rheumatism.

* * *

The utterly groundless fear that sunshine produces freckles prevents a host of women from breathing the outer air and benefiting by the restorative and beautifying influence of the sun upon the skin. Fresh air is an absolute essential of beauty. It is almost useless to prescribe a diet for beauty if the system is starved for lack of pure air and the circulatory and digestive functions are working only at a half-time rate. Beauty is the product of pure blood.

* * *

In case of dyspepsia eat slowly, masticate thoroughly, and insalivate completely. Take solids and liquids separately, the latter in the shape of hot water on rising in the morning, between eleven and twelve in the forenoon, about four or five in the afternoon, and at night before going to bed. When these rules do not suffice to remove the dyspepsia, the patient must take his farinaceous and proteid foods at different meals alternately, a farinaceous meal at breakfast time and again at five o'clock, and meat and fish meals at midday and at eight o'clock. In some cases it will be well to supplement the gastric juice with a little acid and pepsin.

* * *

Gout and rheumatism are exceedingly painful diseases, and although in some cases they prove fatal, they confer many a blessing upon mankind. Rheumatism, particularly, is well known to doctors as a preventive of many other diseases. Gouty subjects generally live to a ripe age, and albeit they suffer very severely at times, they usually enjoy excellent general health, the very causes of the gout keeping their blood in good condition, and making it unendurable to many kinds of microbes. Cases have occurred of whole households except one member being stricken down with infectious diseases, and the lucky exception has been a sufferer from rheumatism or gout.

Useful Hints and Recipes for the Home.

SUCCESSFUL and economical housekeeping consists in living within one's income. To accomplish this necessitates care in undertaking the large number of little things which occur during the daily routine, and it is only by paying regular attention to these that a happy and comfortable home can be maintained.

The following hints and recipes will be found useful to the housewife, and enable her to overcome little difficulties.

HOUSEHOLD CLEANING AND RENOVATING.

A GOOD FLOOR POLISH.

THE most perfect wax for polishing floors can be made at home with very little trouble. To every pound of beeswax allow three pints of turpentine. Cut the wax into small pieces, and put these into a basin, and place in a saucepan of boiling water until the beeswax is thoroughly melted. Take it off the fire, add the turpentine to the beeswax, and mix them well together.

UNVARNISHED PAINT.

To clean paint that is not varnished, take a flannel and squeeze nearly dry out of warm water, and dip in a little whitening. Apply to the paint, and with a little rubbing it will instantly remove grease, smoke, or other stains. Wash with warm water and rub with a soft cloth. It will not injure the most delicate colour, makes it look like new, and lasts much longer than if cleaned with soap and water.

WHITE PAINT.

A mixture of pipeclay and water will be found most efficacious as a means of cleaning white paint which has become much soiled. The grain of the wood should always be followed in applying the paste, and the same rule should be adopted in polishing afterwards with a dry chamois leather or soft duster.

TO MAKE LINOLEUM LAST.

To make linoleum and oilcloth last for years, as little water as possible should be used. Use a flannelette cloth wrung out of warm soapy water, rub firmly over, well rinse, wring dry again, and wipe the surface. Lino dries quickly, and should be polished with a preparation made from beeswax and turpentine, or any good floor polish.

WHEN WASHING OILCLOTH.

When washing oilcloth a tablespoonful of painter's size added to a pailful of water will give it a glossy surface and make it wear much better than when washed in the ordinary way.

DON'T WASTE OLD OILCLOTH.

Large quantities of floorcloth are often thrown out, as it does not seem to be generally known that it can be put to a good use when it has served its time on the floor. If cut into pieces it makes a capital fire-lighter, owing to the fact that oil is largely used in the process of manufacture.

TO RENOVATE OLD OILCLOTH.

To renew shabby floorcloth, melt a little glue in one pint of water, and at night, when the traffic of the day is done, go over the floorcloth with a piece of flannel dipped in the glue.

HOW TO SWEEP.

Dip several newspapers in water, then squeeze until they cease dripping, tear in bits and throw over the floor. Have all available furniture moved from the room, and cover what is left with old sheets. Then sweep with firm, steady strokes, keeping the broom close to the floor.

TO BRIGHTEN GRATE BARS.

Sometimes the bars of a grate have a burnt, ugly appearance, which prevents them from taking on a polish. To remedy this, before applying the black-lead rub the bars with a piece of lemon, and they will take on a brilliant polish without any trouble.

TO CLEAN CRETONNE.

Try cleaning your cretonne chair-covers in the following way: Put some clean bran into the oven and leave it until it is quite hot. Then take some in the palm of the hand, and rub it into the cretonne with a circular movement. Keep using fresh bran until the whole chair has been thoroughly gone over, and you will be delighted with the result.

A POLISH FOR OLD OAK.

To make a good furniture polish for old oak boards and mahogany, shred a quarter of a pound of beeswax into a jar, and just cover it with turpentine, and stand it on the stove till melted. Put the same quantity of soap into a jar, and just cover with soft water; stand on the stove. When the soap and beeswax are melted put both mixtures together, adding, if necessary, a little more turpentine to make a good consistency to work.

AN EXCELLENT FURNITURE POLISH.

The woodwork should be first carefully wiped with a dry, soft cloth, and the dust thoroughly removed from corners and carvings. Then apply the following reviver: Raw linseed oil and spirits of turpentine in the proportion of two-thirds oil and one of turpentine, which should be applied with a small brush, wiping off with a soft cloth, and rubbing till thoroughly dry. It will be found that dents and scratches lose their prominence under this treatment. Should this method be pursued regularly, the furniture will retain a fresh appearance.

A HINT ON CARPET-SWEEPING.

Scatter salt on a carpet when sweeping, and you will not only find it has a cleansing effect, but that it keeps away moths.

THE CARE OF CARPETS.

Carpet-cleaning is a duty which should precede spring-cleaning. Both mats and carpets should, in turn, be taken in hand. Among the various methods which are given for the cleaning and freshening of a shabby carpet is to wipe it over with a cloth which has been wrung out of warm water and vinegar in the proportion of a cupful of the latter to a pailful of water. This process must not be carried out, however, until the carpet has been carefully and assiduously brushed, and care must be taken to let it dry thoroughly before it is walked over.

TO RENOVATE A LEATHER BAG.

Polish a leather bag which has begun to look shabby with this mixture: One tablespoonful of boiled linseed oil and two of vinegar. Shake well. Rub in a little, and then polish with a soft duster.

WINTER CLEANING OF WINDOWS.

To clean windows in winter nothing is better than methylated spirit. This gives a splendid polish, and as it quickly evaporates is no trouble to dry.

TO POLISH MIRRORS.

A small pad of tissue paper sprinkled with methylated spirit will give a brilliant polish to mirrors, picture-glasses, and crystal. The pad, used without the spirit, is excellent for burnishing steel, rubbing grease spots off furniture, polishing silver, etc.

TO CLEAN WINDOWS.

The most expeditious way of cleaning windows is by using paraffin oil. Well moisten a cloth with oil, and clean as many as are required. When finished, come back to the first one and polish with a soft, dry cloth. This method gives the windows a beautiful polish.

TO CLEAN WALLPAPERS.

Mix 2lb. common flour with two pints of cold water. Knead it to a stiff dough, and make it into three or four balls. Wipe the paper over with the dough, beginning at the top and working downwards. This quantity of dough is sufficient to clean the walls of a large room. As the dough becomes dirty work the soiled part into the middle. To clean light wallpaper try rubbing the soiled spots with dry plaster-of-Paris. When all traces of dirt are removed dust the powder off with a soft cloth. Another way is to take a loaf of bread (stale, but not too hard) and cut off one crust; then, taking it in one hand, rub the paper gently with the exposed surface. When the bread looks soiled cut off a very thin slice and proceed with the work. It is best to rub up and down on the paper, and clean each place thoroughly before leaving it.

A WORN STAIR CARPET.

A worn stair carpet may be much improved by having the surface darned with a rug wool. Match the colour carefully, and the improved appearance of the carpet will delight you.

TO MEND CHINA.

To mend china, make a very thick solution of gum arabic in water, and stir into it plaster-of-Paris until the mixture becomes the proper consistency. Apply with a brush to the broken edges and stick them together. Let it remain undisturbed for three days.

WORN MATTRESSES.

The woven-wire mattresses used in bedsteads nowadays are apt to wear the material of the hair mattress above. To prevent this, spread sheets of strong brown paper between the two, pinning or tying at the corners so that it may not get out of place.

TO WASH BLANKETS.

Cut up some soap and boil till dissolved, then add as much as is required to a tub of warm water to make a nice lather, then add about a tablespoonful of ammonia. Squeeze the blankets in this till clean, then rinse, wring out, and hang in the air to dry. Only do two or three at a time, as it is rather tiring work.

AFTER WASHING BLANKETS.

After blankets have been thoroughly washed in soapsuds and carefully rinsed—the water for all processes being cold—hang them the long way on the line where the wind will have free access, and when nearly dry beat thoroughly. This will make them soft and fluffy.

CANE-BOTTOMED CHAIRS.

When cane-bottomed seats become slack through use, sponge both sides of the cane thoroughly with hot soapsuds in which a handful of salt has been dissolved, then stand the chair in the open air. Treated like this, the seats will become firm.

TO DARKEN STAINED BOARDS.

Stained boards are apt to become lighter after a little wear, but if rubbed with paraffin oil they will again become darker. When rubbed with beeswax and turpentine after they will look as good as ever.

TO CLEAN OIL PAINTINGS.

Take a raw potato and cut it in half; with the cut side rub over the picture, and as it becomes dirty cut off a thin slice, wiping off the dirty froth with a soft cloth. In this way go all over the picture till it is clean, carefully wiping as you go. Then rub with a silk handkerchief till dry. Afterwards apply a proper picture varnish.

TO CLEAN WATER-BOTTLES.

Water-bottles and vases that become discoloured and dirty should have a raw potato cut in bits and put inside with a tablespoonful each of salt and washing soda and two of water. Shake well, and rinse in clear water.

TO CLEAN WHITE ENAMELLED FURNITURE.

To clean white enamelled furniture, remove all dirty marks with a flannel dipped in methylated spirits. Then wash at once with tepid water to which has been added a little fine oatmeal. Never use soap or soda.

LOOK AFTER YOUR FURS.

Moths can be kept from furs by putting a piece of linen damped in turpentine in the drawers or wardrobes in which the furs are stored.

NEW HAIR BRUSHES.

Make a point of soaking them in cold water for twenty-four hours. This tightens the bristles and prevents them from coming out.

TO CLEAN ALUMINIUM.

When aluminium pans become black and dull-looking, clean them with a soft cloth dipped in lemon-juice.

TO REMOVE STAINS.

MUD STAINS ON UMBRELLA.

Rub a mud-stained umbrella with a rag dipped in methylated spirit, and the stains will disappear.

STAINS ON FLANNELS.

Stains on flannels may be removed by applying yolk of egg and glycerine in equal quantities. Leave it for half an hour and then wash out.

SCORCH MARKS ON LINEN.

To remove scorch from linen, cut an onion in half and rub the scorched part with it, then soak in cold water. This is an excellent remedy, and the marks soon disappear.

DISCOLOURED MARBLE.

Discoloured marble can quite well be cleaned in the following way: First of all wash with soap and water, then wipe dry and apply a paste made of powdered bathbrick and lemon-juice. Rub it well into the discoloured parts, and rinse off in clean cold water.

STAINS ON MARBLE.

Try a paste made of whiting, powdered soda, and water to remove those unsightly stains. Mix a little liquid ammonia with it if they are very bad.

INK STAINS ON LEATHER.

For ink stains the best thing to do is to let a drop of nitre fall from a quill on to the spot, and then wash it off quickly with a clean, damp, and soft cloth, finishing by polishing the leather with either leather reviver or lightly-beaten white of egg.

TO REMOVE IRON-MOULD.

Dissolve oxalic acid in water, wet the spot, rub it a little, and hang it by the window in the sun. Be careful that the liquid is not so strong as to eat the fabric. It is a deadly poison.

STAINS ON IVORY.

To clean ivory, a paste of sawdust, lemon-juice, and cold water should be spread over the surface and left until dry, when a brush should be used with which to remove it. A paste of prepared chalk and a few drops of sal volatille rubbed on with a chamois leather is also helpful in removing stains.

TEA STAINS.

Tea stains will disappear if the stained part is spread over a basin, rubbed well with powdered borax, and boiling water is poured through. The article should then soak for a little time.

STAINS ON KNIVES.

Unsightly stains on knives may be removed by means of a slice of raw potato dipped in brickdust. Stained ivory knife-handles should be rubbed with a cloth dipped in turpentine.

INK STAINS ON BOARDS.

May be removed by vinegar or salts of lemon. If the above fails, scour the board with sand, wet with water in which a few drops of oil of vitriol are mixed.

OIL STAINS ON WOOD.

Oil stains on wood should be spread with a paste made of pipeclay and water, this being rubbed off the next day.

OIL STAINS ON CLOTHES.

Dressmakers are sometimes at a loss what to do when machine-stitching light-coloured material and it happens to get machine-oil on it, thus causing an ugly stain. If a small piece of the same material is taken and moistened with a few drops of benzine, rubbed into the stained parts, and allowed to dry, this will remove the stain without injuring the material.

RUST SPOTS.

For removing iron-rust spots from white fabrics use the following: Pour boiling water into a bowl, stretch the cloth that is spotted over it, and drop on the spot of rust a drop of hydrochloric or muriatic acid. Leave it there half a minute, then dip the place in hot water. Wash out thoroughly afterwards in water softened with ammonia. Soap must not be used.

SPOTS ON CLOTH.

Fullers earth is effective in removing spots from cloth and carpets. Moisten the earth to a soft paste, and spread a thin layer over the soiled places. Mix the earth with a little turpentine if the spot is greasy. Allow the paste to remain for two days, and then brush off.

FLY SPECKS.

If a picture frame has become fly-specked, the spots may be removed with stale beer. If it is a gilded frame it may be freshened with a coat of re-touching varnish. If polished wood, rub it with equal parts of turpentine and boiled linseed oil.

VARNISH STAINS.

Varnish stains may be removed from the hands, and also from the brushes with which it is applied, with spirits of wine. First wash with a little spirit, and then, after wiping with a rag, wash thoroughly in soapy water.

PAINT STAINS ON WOOLLENS.

Turpentine will remove paint from woollen or silk fabrics. Saturate the spot with spirits of turpentine, and allow it to remain for hours. Rub the cloth between the fingers, and the paint will crumble off without injuring the fabric.

USES OF CHLORIDE OF LIME.

Chloride of lime is excellent for removing all sorts of stains, including mildew, and a bottle of the solution, made thus, should be kept to be ready for use when required: Put 2oz. chloride of lime in a basin with one and a half pints of cold water; stir well, and let it soak for an hour or two, stirring now and again. Leave to settle overnight; strain, keeping back all sediment, which would burn, and bottle for use. This removes mildew as well as ordinary stains, and a cupful added to a tubful of water makes an excellent bleach for clothes.

TAR STAINS.

Rub over with a little grease, wipe with cloth and soapy water, and finally with benzine.

WHERE MATCHES ARE STRUCK.

The discolorations caused by striking matches can be removed by rubbing with a slice of freshly-cut lemon, and then follow with a damp cloth dipped in whiting.

SPECKS ON WINDOWS.

Sometimes after windows have been carefully cleaned small specks and streaks are to be seen. These can be removed with a liquid paste made of whiting and alcohol.

FOR THE PASTRYCOOK.

SWEET OMELETTES.

Three or four eggs, jam, one tablespoonful of milk. Beat up the eggs and milk very thoroughly. Have ready an omelette pan in which is dissolved a piece of butter. When the fat is steaming pour in the mixture, and turn it round and round with a fork until it begins to set. Then lift up the handle end of the pan so that the omelette goes to the other, where it will obtain the shape of a crescent. Turn out into a dish, spread with warm jam, sprinkle castor sugar on the top, and serve immediately.

EGG PASTIES.

Required: Six hard-boiled eggs, short crust pastry, one raw egg, breadcrumbs, salt and pepper. Remove the shells and sprinkle the eggs with salt and pepper. Roll out the pastry thinly, and cut it into six oblong-shaped pieces. Wrap each egg in the pastry, and then brush them with raw egg. Dip in breadcrumbs and fry in hot fat until golden-brown.

LEMON CURD.

To ¾lb. loaf sugar add the juice of two large lemons and the rind of one grated on the sugar, 3oz. butter, and the yolks of three eggs. Boil the whole over a slow fire until of the consistency of honey, stirring it gently all the time to prevent it from burning. Pour into clean jam-jars to keep until required.

WELSH CHEESECAKE.

Quarter of a pound of raspberry jam, 2oz. butter, 2oz. flour, 2oz. castor sugar, one egg, grated rind of half a lemon, puff pastry. Line one dozen patty pans with puff pastry and put a teaspoonful of jam in each. Cream, butter, and sugar; add the egg and beat well, then stir in the flour and grated lemon-rind. Divide this into the patty pans, and bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes until a golden-brown. Sift some sugar over them.

VANILLA CAKES.

Mix together 2oz. each of flour and cornflour, and half a teaspoonful of baking powder. Rub in 2oz. butter, and add 1oz. castor sugar. Mix to a stiff paste with a little milk, and flavour with vanilla. Bake on a greased tin in heaps for about ten minutes.

RHUBARB AND FIG PUDDING.

One pound of rhubarb, ½lb. dried figs (which should have been soaked for 12 hours previously), 3oz. sugar, a piece of lemon-peel, slices of bread and butter. Stew the rhubarb and the figs with the sugar and lemon-peel. Line a pudding basin with slices of bread and butter, fill with the fruit, cover with bread and butter, put a saucer on the top, and leave till next day. Turn out and serve with custard.

CUP PUDDING

One teacupful of flour, one teacupful of suet, one teacupful of breadcrumbs, one teacupful of sugar, one teacupful of raisins, one teacupful of sultanas, one teacupful of milk, one egg, one apple finely chopped, one teaspoonful of baking-powder, one tablespoonful of chopped orange-peel, one teaspoonful of mixed spice. Mix all dry ingredients, having added the baking-powder to the flour and washed fruit, etc., add the egg (beaten) to the milk, and pour over the dry ingredients. Mix all well together. Grease pudding basin and put in the mixture, cover with greased paper, and steam two and a half hours.

PARADISE PUDDING.

Two eggs, ½lb. breadcrumbs, three apples (finely chopped), a cup of currants, the juice of half a lemon, sugar and salt to taste. Beat the eggs and add them to the breadcrumbs, sugar, apples, etc., then rub the currants in flour and add them. Turn into well-greased mould and steam or boil for one hour and a half. Serve hot with sweet sauce.

GINGERBREAD NUTS.

Required: 2lb. flour, 1½lb. treacle, 1½oz. ginger, 6oz. good dripping, a pinch of cayenne, and the same of ground cloves. The fat should be melted in the treacle and then left to cool until the other ingredients can be mixed with it. Roll out to the sixth of an inch in thickness, and cut with round cutters. Bake fifteen minutes or more in a moderate oven. Grease the baking-tins very little, and leave but little room for spreading. These may be made richer by adding ½lb. candied peel.

CINNAMON BISCUITS

Half a pound of flour, ¼lb. butter, lard or margarine, 2oz. sugar, one egg, a pinch of salt, ¼ teaspoonful powdered cinnamon, and 2oz. almonds. Warm the flour, add salt and the cinnamon. Melt the butter and sugar together, and add the beaten egg. Add slowly the flour, mixing very well. If the mixture gets too stiff to stir, knead with the hand. Put in small piles on a greased tin and spread flat with a knife, sprinkle chopped almonds on the top of each, and bake in a moderate oven until a golden-brown (about 15 minutes). Allow to cool, and then store in a tin in a cool place.

IN THE KITCHEN AND LARDER.

HANDY KITCHEN MEASURES.

One pound and fourteen ounces of best powdered white sugar make one quart.

One ordinary tumbler holds half a pint.

One pound of wheat flour is equal to one quart.

One pound and two ounces of Indian flour make one quart.

Two pounds of soft butter equal one quart.

One pound and fourteen ounces of best brown sugar make one quart.

An average tablespoon holds about an ounce of flour; a dessertspoon half; and a teaspoon a quarter of an ounce.

The average teacup holds about a quarter of a pound of flour, and the breakfastcup half a pound.

TIMES FOR ROASTING, BAKING AND BOILING.

ROASTING OR BAKING MEAT OR POULTRY.

(The average time for roasting meat is a quarter of an hour for each pound.)

	lbs.	hrs.
Sirloin or ribs of beef weighing	8	2
Fillet of veal	9	2¼
Loin of veal	8	2
Shoulder of veal	8	2¼

Peas (green)	10 to 30 min.
Potatoes (old)	20 to 35 min.
Potatoes (new)	¼ to ½ hr.
Spinach	10 to 15 min.
Tomatoes (stewed)	20 to 25 min.
Turnips	18 to 25 min.

CHOOSING POULTRY.

When you choose poultry, see that the beak and claws of a fowl are soft, not stiff and horny; the bones of all young birds are soft and easily broken.

TOUGH MEAT.

A spoonful of vinegar put into the water in which meat or fowls are boiled makes them tender.

TO KEEP GAME SWEET.

Ground coffee sprinkled freely amongst the fur or feathers of freshly-shot game will keep it sweet for a considerable time. It should always be treated in this way when packed for travelling.

SUET READY FOR USE.

It is a great convenience to have the suet for puddings always on hand and always ready for use. Free the suet from loose skin, chop it rather fine, using a meat-chopper if you have one; then add one-third as much flour as there is suet, and one tablespoonful of salt to each quart of suet. Mix well, put in a glass jar, and set in a cool, dry place. Suet prepared in this manner will keep good all the winter, and is ready for use at any moment.

MEAT IN WARM WEATHER.

A shoulder of mutton is, next to the leg, the joint of meat best calculated for keeping in warm weather.

HINTS ABOUT FOWLS.

To pluck a fowl speedily, place it in boiling water for a few minutes. When you remove it you will find a good many feathers have come off, and the rest will yield to a very light plucking. If you are uncertain as to the age of a fowl, partly steam or boil it in a little water for about an hour before browning it in the oven, and it will be as tender as a young chicken.

TO KEEP BUTTER FRESH.

Get a nice large jam-jar, and into it put the butter. Next obtain a flower-pot large enough to go right over the jar, but first of all see that the pot is perfectly clean. Next get a cloth and rinse through clear, cold water, and cover over all. This may be done as often as the cloth is noticed to be dry. Turn the butter at least once a week, and give the jar a good wash with boiling water, but let it get cold again before adding the butter again.

TO TEST BUTTER.

Country people use the following simple test to judge if butter is pure: They get a clean piece of white paper, smear it with the suspected butter, then roll it up and set it on fire. If the butter is good the smell of the paper is decidedly pleasant; but if there is any animal fat in the composition there is no mistake about the tallowy odour.

TO PRESERVE EGGS.

Pour six quarts of boiling water on to 3lb. lime, 1oz. cream of tartar, and ½lb. salt. When quite cold pour this over fresh eggs carefully arranged in jars, and see that all are covered. Tie over with paper, and stand on a shelf in the larder or in a cool store-room.

KEEPING THE JUICES IN.

When cooking a bird in the oven, roast it in the usual way until it is nicely browned; then turn back upwards and let it remain so until done. This causes the gravy to run into the breast, making it soft and tender.

A STEWING HINT.

In stewing meat, the outside should first be browned so as to keep in the juices. The meat should then be placed in a saucepan, and a small quantity of boiling water should be poured over.

TO CLARIFY FAT.

To clarify fat after frying, throw into the fat a few slices of raw potato and cook to a golden colour. This will purify the fat wonderfully.

BEFORE PUTTING FRUIT INTO A CAKE.

Warm it and flour well, and do not stir the cake much after the fruit has been added, otherwise it will sink to the bottom.

TO BOIL VEGETABLES.

When boiling vegetables, be sure the water is at boiling point before putting in the vegetables to be cooked. If it is cold or lukewarm, the freshness and flavour will soak out into the water. Place the saucepan over the hottest part of the fire.

LIGHT MASHED POTATOES.

A little baking powder added to mashed potatoes with the milk before they are whipped will make them very light and flaky.

NUTRITION IN RICE.

The most careful chemical analyses have demonstrated that rice possesses more nutriment than wheat, oats, or barley. It will sustain life longer than any other starch-producing plant.

A TEST FOR MILK.

An easy test for milk, failing the regular glass tube supplied by the public analyst, is to put a bright steel knitting-needle into the milk. If, on withdrawing it, the milk adheres and drops off slowly it is pure. If, on the contrary, it runs off quickly, it has been adulterated with water.

TO KEEP MILK FROM BURNING.

Before putting milk into the saucepan, boil rapidly a few spoonfuls of water (enough to just cover the bottom of the pan), and it will never burn, however fierce the fire.

WHEN BAKING CAKES.

To prevent cakes sticking to their tins, place them on a damp cloth when removed from the oven.

TO KEEP SOUP.

If soup is to be good it must never be allowed to get cold in the saucepan, but must be strained off directly it is sufficiently cooked.

TO TURN OUT JELLY.

To turn jelly out of a mould successfully without any difficulty, fill the mould with cold water. Let it stand until the jelly is made and nearly cold. Then pour off the water and fill the mould with the nearly cold jelly. It will turn out without any trouble.

SCRAPING CARROTS.

Carrots should be scrubbed and scraped, not peeled, for the nourishment lies in the red pulp. This part is not at all indigestible.

TO BEAT WHITE OF EGG.

When beating white of egg, be sure that the plate is perfectly dry. If the process is carried out in the open air it will be very quickly accomplished.

FUR IN KETTLES.

To remove the deposit from the inside of tea kettles, fill the kettle with water, and add it to a dram of sal ammoniac. Let it boil for an hour, when the fur, or petrified substance, found on the metal will be dissolved and can be easily removed. Rinse the kettle out well; then boil out once or twice before using.

CLEANING KNIVES WITH A CORK.

A quick and most effective way of cleaning steel knives is to use a cork. Slightly damp a little knife powder, dip the cork in the powder, and rub the blades. The stains will disappear as if by magic, and the knives will only need a rub with a soft duster to bring up the polish.

FLIES IN THE LARDER

Are a pest in summer. Begin early in the spring to sponge the widows twice a week with a weak solution of carbolic acid and water. If this is done regularly it will keep away flies.

TO CLEAN ENAMELLED PANS.

Fill these with cold water as soon as emptied, let stand for half an hour, then add a little soda to the water, and let it heat slowly on a cool part of the stove. Then it will be quite easy to wash.

THE CARE OF BROOMS.

If you want your brooms to last, never stand them head downwards on the floor when not in use. Put a piece of string through a hole in the handle, and hang them up.

TO KEEP THE SINK SWEET.

Pour a strong solution of salt and water down the pipe once a week. It is an excellent cleanser, and removes all unpleasant odour

TO CLEANSE A STONE SINK.

Wipe as dry as possible with an old flannel. Then take some paraffin and rub all over sides, corners, etc., with a piece of flannel or an old brush kept for the purpose. Grease, black, etc., disappear as by magic. Then well rinse down with plenty of hot soda water, and your sink will look like a new one, without any labour of scrubbing in the ordinary way.

TO REMOVE GREASE FROM KITCHEN FLOOR.

Sand is much better than soap for this purpose. If the floor is very dirty mix a little chloride of lime with the sand. You will need plenty of warm water.

WHEN POURING OUT MILK.

A jug of milk which has been standing should always be poured out carefully, leaving a little at the bottom, as that portion of the milk is injurious to health.

MILKY GLASSES.

Glasses that have contained milk should be rinsed in cold water before being washed in hot. Putting the milky glass in hot water has the effect of clouding the glass permanently.

IN WASHING CHINA.

When washing valuable china or cut-glass it is a good plan to place a heavy Turkish towel at the bottom of the basin. This prevents all danger of the china and glass getting chipped.

SQUEEZED LEMONS AS CLEANSERS.

Don't throw away squeezed lemons, but use them for cleaning. Dip them into fine whiting, and they are invaluable for brass or copper.

GREASE ON STOVES.

Make it a rule to rub all grease from the kitchen range and gas stove while still hot, with newspaper. If rubbed off then, there is no difficulty in cleaning the stove afterwards.

TO CLEAN GAS STOVES.

Gas stoves should be constantly washed with hot water and soda. After drying, rub with a very little paraffin, and polish with blacklead.

TO KEEP A FIRE ALIVE.

If a fire has to be left unwatched for several hours, the best plan to keep it alive is to place on the top of the coal a handful of salt. This will prevent its burning quickly, also from flying on to the hearthrug. A stir with the poker afterwards will result in a nice red fire.

TO CLEAN GAS OVENS.

To clean gas ovens, put a little ammonia in the water and clean in the ordinary way. They will be found to clean more easily, as the ammonia prevents them from turning brown.

TO SAVE GAS.

When using gas stoves to cook, do not light the gas to heat the water for washing up, but put a bowl of water in the oven during dinner time, and it will be quite hot enough for washing up purposes when dinner is finished.

A USE FOR ASHES.

If the ashes and cinders taken from dining and breakfast rooms are put on one side of the coal-house and some very small coal-dust with them, also tea-leaves and potato parings, damped well and mixed all thoroughly together, it makes an excellent backing for the kitchen fire during the afternoon. It burns brightly when caked, and makes a lovely fire, and is a great saving of coal. You may back up the dining-room fire with same with good results.

HOME FREEZER.

Most women know that a mixture of two parts of pounded ice and one part of common salt will reduce the temperature of anything enclosed so as to be wholly surrounded by the mixture (say a milk-can in an ice-cream freezer), to below freezing-point. Few housewives, however, know of the remarkable properties of a mixture of chloride of lime and ice. A mixture of three parts of crystallised chloride of lime and two parts of ice forms a combination that will freeze mercury in seven minutes.

BUY SOAP IN QUANTITIES.

Soap improves with keeping, and it will be found economical to purchase it in large quantities. Before storing it, however, the bars should be cut up into convenient sizes, for this is easily done when the soap is soft and new, but not when it has become dry and hard. The easiest plan is to cut it with a piece of wire or a bit of twine, in the same way as grocers cut cheese.

A USEFUL HINT.

A little dry mustard rubbed on the hands will remove the smell of onions, fish, or any other disagreeable odour.

STALE BREAD FOR PUDDINGS.

When using stale bread for puddings always soak it in a cold liquid. Bread that has been soaked in cold milk or water is light and crumbly, whereas that soaked in hot liquids is heavy.

TO PREPARE TABLE SALT.

To prepare salt for table use, place some on a plate in the oven for ten minutes, then turn on to white paper. Take a clean round bottle, roll it well over the salt, until free from lumps, and fill the salt-cellars.

HOW TO TREAT SCRUBBING-BRUSHES.

When not in use they should be turned bristles downward. The water will run out and they will dry. If they are placed on their backs the water will soak in and loosen the bristles.

HEALTH HINTS AND RECIPES.

TO PREVENT CHILBLAINS.

A capital preventive of chilblains is that of rubbing the skin where it is particularly susceptible with a very coarse, hard towel night and morning, especially after a hot bath, or when changing the stockings in wet weather.

ANOTHER METHOD.

Take a piece of alum about the size of a nut and melt it in enough hot water to cover the hands. When the alum has quite dissolved soak your hands in the liquid for a quarter of an hour. Wipe the hands dry, then rub thoroughly with a piece of common new flannel kept for the purpose. Wearing loose gloves at night, and as much as you can during the day, is a great protection for the hands.

AN EMBROCATION FOR RHEUMATISM.

Take half a pint of oil of turpentine, quarter of an ounce of extract of lead, and one egg. Mix together by shaking in a well-corked quart bottle, and then add gradually half a pint of white vinegar and half an ounce of spirits of wine. This embrocation is invaluable for rubbing into the joints for rheumatic pains, or on the chest for a cold.

FOR WEAK EYES.

An excellent wash for tired, weak, or inflamed eyes, a wash approved by leading oculists, is composed of one pint of boiled water, one teaspoonful of refined borax, and fifteen drops of spirits of camphor. Flush the eyes with this three times daily.

TO TAKE NAUSEOUS MEDICINE.

Eat a tiny piece of lemon peel—the yellow part only—just before taking the medicine, and it will not taste nearly so nasty.

THE VALUE OF CARBONATE OF SODA.

Always keep carbonate of soda in the house for burns and scalds; it is an excellent remedy. The surface of the burn should be covered with it, either dry or just damped. It relieves the pain caused by bites or stings of insects. A small saltspoonful in half a tumbler of water will relieve heartburn and indigestion, and if taken with tepid water last thing at night will frequently induce sleep in a restless person.

THE VALUE OF OLIVE OIL.

Olive oil is an excellent fattener. Some can take a tablespoonful after each meal easily. It stimulates and makes active the digestive organs, clears the complexion, and makes the eyes bright and sparkling.

HOW TO TREAT A BURN.

For a burn, cut away the clothes round the burnt part. Do not attempt to pull them off, or the skin will come with them. Dust flour or powdered starch thickly on the hurt, or cover it with rags dipped in olive or linseed oil. If the burn is at all a bad one, the patient should be put to bed, and send for the doctor.

A CURE FOR TOOTHACHE.

If you have a hollow tooth, and it aches, cut a piece of clove to fit the cavity, and put it in lightly, allowing the upper part to stick out like a cork in a bottle. It will soon swell, keeping the air from the nerve, and the pain will cease until the clove drops out, when it may be replaced by another.

TO EXTRACT A SPLINTER.

When a splinter has been driven deep into the hand it can be extricated without pain by steam. Nearly fill a wide-mouthed bottle with hot water, place the injured part over the mouth of the bottle, and press lightly. The suction will draw the flesh down, and in a minute or two the steam will extricate the splinter and inflammation together.

TO CURE A STING OF BEE OR WASP.

If you are out walking in the country and should get stung, mix common earth with water, and apply at once.

TO PREPARE A FOMENTATION.

To prepare a fomentation, place a towel across a hand-basin, with the ends hanging over. Put in this a double piece of flannel, and fold the towel over from the sides. Then pour on boiling water, and wring by the ends. Take the flannel out, give it a shake, and apply lightly at once.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST TAKING COLD.

In damp and changeable weather the following precautions against taking cold will be found invaluable:—Never lean with the back upon anything that is cold. Keep the back, especially between the shoulder-blades, well covered; also the chest well protected. Endeavour always, waking and sleeping, to breathe through nose. Never go to bed with cold or damp feet. Never stand still in cold weather, especially when in a glow after taking exercise; and avoid standing on ice or snow, or where a cold wind blows over you. Never omit regular bathing; unless the skin is encouraged to perform its work cold will close the pores and favour congestion.

TO EASE BUNIONS AND CORNS.

Carefully paint the bunion with iodine and aconite every night, and let it soak in. Directly the skin seems sore at all stop this application for a week or two. For corns, try linseed oil, applying a drop or two to the corn daily. This softens the skin so well that the corn can be easily removed.

TO PREPARE A COLD CLOTH.

Everyone knows that in fevers a cold cloth on the forehead or face, or base of the brain, is one of the most comfortable things in the world. In the tropical hospitals, and where ice is scarce, all that is necessary is to wet a linen cloth, wave it to and fro in the air, fold it, and place on the patient. Have another cloth ready, waving it to and fro just before applying it. These cold cloths have a more grateful and lasting coldness than those produced by ice.

A GOOD COOLING MEDICINE.

For adults is made as follows: Take two ounces of Epsom salts, half an ounce of milk of sulphur, one ounce and a half of cream of tartar, the juice of a lemon, and part of its rind. Put all these ingredients in a jug and pour over two quarts of boiling water. The dose is a wineglassful once or twice a day.

SOFT FOOD.

Habitually eating soft foods, even soft bread, to the exclusion of everything that is hard or crusty, is not only weakening to the digestive organs, but it leads to rapid decay of the teeth. When these are not used in the mastication of harder foods the teeth become covered with tartar, and sometimes loosen in their sockets, or the gums will bleed. The use of hard bread and other substances requiring thorough mastication will do more to preserve the teeth than all other things put together. It will also tend to keep them clean, and, by insuring good digestion, it will help to make the breath fresh and pure.

HINTS ON SLEEP.

After removing the clothing, do not place it carelessly on chair or floor, but shake it out and spread or hang it so that the air may reach it freely during the night.

Spend at least five minutes brushing the hair. Sit down to do it. This is a wonderful soother of tired heads and nerves. Bathe the face, the hands, and the feet. Especially give the feet a warm foot bath. This carries away the impurities excreted during the day, and prevents their re-absorption through the night. It also tends to draw the blood from the head, and thus relieves pressure or distension of the blood-vessels there.

Never go to bed with cold feet. A few minutes of brisk exercise will warm them to stay warm, and be far more beneficial than the hot-water bottle. One of the best exercises for warming the feet is to stand with the weight on the balls of the feet and lift the right heel, then press slowly and strongly down with the right heel as the left heel is tense and lifted as if pushing against something. Reverse, pushing down with the left heel and up with the right. Repeat until the feet are in a glow. If there is a tendency to chilliness below the knees, place one foot forward, weight evenly divided, lift the heels, and rapidly bend and straighten the knees until the limbs are thoroughly warmed.

Sleep with the windows open. Night air will not hurt you. In many places it is better than day air. Keep the air pure. Decaying flowers or fruit, old shoes and soiled clothing, all tend to pollute the air of the sleeping-room

Breathe deeply before the open windows—not quick, vigorous, breaths, but slow, deep, regular inspirations. Such breathing will quiet the mind and rest the body.

Every night take a drink of cold water—not a mere sip, but a good long drink. It will wash out and cleanse the stomach, and help to relieve constipation.

Just before going to bed take several relaxing exercises. Relax the body from side to side, above the hips; let it swing lazily to one side, down in front and up on the other side; slowly relax forward and back. Repeat these exercises a number of times, then get into bed.

On awakening, stretch and yawn—yawn and stretch. Let the vital forces come slowly into play. The action of the heart is diminished nearly one-half during sleep. Think, then, of the shock and strain upon it when one instantly upon awakening jumps from the bed to an upright standing position and begins to pull on clothing as rapidly as possible.

Upon rising, fill the lungs with fresh air, take the cold sponge bath, followed by a brisk dry rub, breathing deeply all the while, and add a few general exercises until the whole body feels warm and invigorated.

Let the mind be well poised and confident; you have conquered all other days—surely this one need not worry nor dismay. Be cheerful. "Greet the day with a smile, and it will leave you with a blessing."

THE CARE OF THE EYES.

Our eyes are our most precious possessions, yet they are often neglected and overworked. If our feet grow tired we sit down to rest. When the arms ache from over-exertion we stop using them for a time. When we have been sick we lie quietly and allow Nature to build up the nerves and muscles; but quite often we while away the tedious hours of convalescence by reading, never realising that the eyes are weak as well as the body, and thus the sight is often permanently injured. We sit in a moving train and watch the landscape, straining the eyes to take in as much as possible. There never was a time when so many young people found it necessary to wear glasses as at present. When the eyes ache and become inflamed they should be cared for at once, to keep the injury from becoming permanent. The following simple and inexpensive treatment will be found very comforting to the eyes, and is safe to use at all times. Put half a teaspoonful of boracic acid in a cupful of warm water and bathe them frequently, and put one or two drops in each eye with a dropper. It clears and strengthens them wonderfully; in fact, this boracic acid solution is unequalled for soothing and healing tired eyes. Avoid walking in the wind as much as possible. After the eyes have been used constantly an hour or two, close them five or ten minutes to rest them. When reading by artificial light, see that the light does not strike direct to the eyes. One should plan the work in such a way that if any part of it must be done after dark it will be something besides reading or sewing.

THE CARE OF CLOTHES.

HANG UP CLOTHES.

Clothes should never be shut up in a wardrobe directly after they have been worn. Let the dress hang over the back of a chair for at least half an hour before you put it away. The oldest clothes can be kept fresh and odourless if they are treated in this way. Children should be taught to turn their stockings inside out at night, and hang them over the back of a chair. All body-linen should be hung over the back of a chair at night so that air can circulate through it freely. The neat little packs of clothes, folded up and put one on top of the other, in which our grandmothers delighted, was extremely unhygienic.

FOR FINE LACE.

In washing and "getting up" fine lace, starch should never be used. If it is to be stiffened slightly, a spoonful of sugar dissolved in a cup of water will serve the purpose.

TO WHITEN HANDKERCHIEFS.

To whiten handkerchiefs which have become a bad colour through careless washing, soak them for a night in a solution of pipeclay and warm water. Wash and boil them next day in the usual way, and they will come out looking beautifully white.

TO WHITEN CLOTHES.

Handkerchiefs and white clothes that have become yellow from the use of too much soap or any other cause may be whitened in the following simple manner: After they have been washed in the usual way, lay them to soak overnight in clear water into which cream of tartar has been put. A teaspoonful to a quart of water is the right proportion. When ironed they will be as white as when new.

TO CLEAN SILK JUMPERS, ETC.

Place about half a pint of petrol into a bowl, then place the jumper in; the petrol will do the rest by drawing out all the dirt. After it has been in about five minutes take out and hang in the air, where it will dry, and all smell will be removed in a few minutes; also it will not require to be ironed. Great care should be taken not to be near a light or fire when doing this.

AIRING CLOTHES.

Clothes should never hang longer in the kitchen than is necessary for airing them, for unpleasant odours of cooking will get into them, and cannot be got rid of without washing.

TO MAKE BUTTONHOLES.

When making buttonholes, if the material is of the kind that easily frays, try the following plan: First of all mark out the buttonholes, then, before cutting the cloth, stitch it round twice with the machine, and cut out between the rows of stitching. This makes a firm foundation for the buttonholes and prevents the material from fraying.

TO CLEAN A WHITE STRAW HAT.

First scrub the straw well with a nail-brush and cold water, and allow to dry. Then dissolve one teaspoonful of oxalic acid in one quart of boiling water, and dip the hat into it. Stiffen the brim, when dry, with size or white of an egg, and press with an iron if necessary.

WHEN STORING FURS.

Remember that there is nothing better to keep moths at bay than paraffin. Use plenty of paper, and put among the furs thin soft rags moistened with paraffin, and no moths will touch the fur.

TO CLEAN A BLACK FELT HAT.

Brush thoroughly with a stiff clothes brush, then mix a little liquid ammonia with water—two parts of water to one of ammonia. Put this on evenly with a bit of sponge. Hang in the air to dry.

TO PRESERVE PATENT LEATHER SHOES.

In cold weather patent leather shoes are apt to crack. This is obviated by rubbing with olive oil or vaseline. Still better than these are a few drops of kerosene, which seems to be peculiarly adapted to patent leather. Shoes finished with enamel—for that is what patent leather really is—should never be put on in winter without first warming them.

TO CLEAN BROWN BOOTS.

A good way to clean brown boots when they have gone a dirty, almost black, colour, is to rub well with a piece of soft cloth dipped in benzine. This will have the effect of making them almost their original colour.

TO BLACK BROWN BOOTS.

Dissolve a lump of common washing soda the size of a walnut in a cup of water. Remove the dirt, and then rub the leather all over with paraffin oil, apply the soda-water (lukewarm) with a piece of flannel, and some black ink. When nearly dry, rub all over with a little neatsfoot or olive oil. The result will be excellent, and the process is quite harmless to the leather of boots, bags, etc.

TO WATERPROOF BOOTS.

Dissolve one ounce of powdered resin in a quarter of a pint of linseed oil made hot over the fire in a salt-jar. Then add two ounces of small-chopped mutton suet, from the kidney, and simmer until the ingredients are well mixed. To use this fluid, make the boots slightly warm before the fire, and paint them over with the composition by means of a soft brush. Then allow them to dry, and paint over again with the liquid. The boots should be placed in a warm, dry place till perfectly dry.

SILK DRESSES.

Silk dresses should never be brushed, but should be carefully rubbed with an old piece of velvet kept for the purpose.

WHITE GLOVES TRANSFORMED.

White gloves that have got beyond cleaning can be painted over with saffron water two or three times and transformed into tan. Let them get thoroughly dry between each application, and don't wet them much.

TO CLEAN WHITE GLOVES.

Put them on the hands, then rub well all over with fullers earth. Dust this off with a dry flannel, and rub again with French chalk and sifted bran mixed in equal proportions. Repeat the whole process if necessary. Another way is to clean them with petrol, place them on the hands, and rub with a cloth dipped in the spirit.

TO RESTORE TAN GLOVES.

When tan kid gloves have been dry-cleaned they frequently appear somewhat faded, and if they have been previously subjected to much hard wear streaks and lines are apt to betray the fact that they are not new. To obviate this, it is an excellent plan to rub a little vaseline well over the surface, applying it with a piece of flannel, and then rubbing the gloves all over with a soft handkerchief.

WASHING FLANNELS.

Flannels should be both washed and rinsed in water of even temperature—lukewarm. Either very hot or very cold water, or a change from hot to cold, will shrink them. They should first be shaken out to remove as much dust and lint as possible. Make suds in the water in which you intend to wash them, and see that it is lukewarm. Never apply soap directly to the flannel. The white pieces should be washed first, and then put into blueing-water, which should be of the same temperature as the washing-water, and which should have a little soap dissolved in it. Rub lightly, and rinse well through this water; wring, shake out, and hang up to dry immediately.

THE USE OF BORAX IN WASHING.

First have plenty of boiling water. To every boilerful add two to three tablespoonfuls of powdered borax; use some of the borax water from the boiler for every tubful of clothes, adding only enough cold water to make it comfortable for the hands. Use soap on the most soiled, and rub on a board or through a washing-machine—do not boil the clothes. Have a tub partly full of boiling-hot borax water in which to put the clothes that have been rubbed; let them remain in the borax water until ready to rinse—from a quarter to half an hour will do; rinse in one clear water without borax.

TOILET HINTS AND RECIPES.

THE BEAUTY OF THE FACE.

The beauty of the face is due largely to the layer of fat which is spread over the muscles in much the same way as a modeller spreads the clay on the figure he is modelling. The wear and tear of life—the sorrows, anxieties, and deprivations—play havoc with this fatty interlining. When the first bloom of youth departs it either wastes away, leaving the face full of hollows and the skin wrinkled, or it accumulates, adding unsightly rolls to the chin, and deforming the contours of the cheeks. In both of these conditions much can be done by means of exercise, self-massage, and the care of the skin, to bring about a better condition of affairs. The condition of the complexion depends upon the healthy condition of the tiny blood-vessels which carry the blood to the skin. These form a network throughout the skin, dividing and sub-dividing until they become so small that they can be seen only by the microscope. To keep these tiny blood-vessels in a state of activity, so that the blood can run through them, is the way to preserve the skin.

A CHEAP COLD CREAM.

Put a quarter of a pound of pure, unsalted lard into a basin, pour boiling water on, and stir till melted. Pour the water off when cold, and repeat the process six times. Then beat a heaped tablespoonful of fine oatmeal into the lard, and add a few drops of any scent you like. Rub a very little of this into your face at night after washing, and wipe off any superfluous grease with a soft, clean rag.

LEMON-JUICE FOR THE SKIN.

Lemon-juice rubbed on the face aids in keeping the skin soft and fresh. If persistently used it will remove freckles, and when applied to the hands it will whiten them.

A HARMLESS FACE POWDER.

One of the best and simplest powders for the face is composed of plain cornflour, scented with a little very finely-powdered orris root. Pure starch or rice powder may also be used quite fearlessly. Powder should be lightly dusted over the skin with a swansdown puff, not rubbed into the pores. Face powder should be carefully and regularly removed from the face every night with soap and water, otherwise it is likely to prove injurious by clogging the gland orifices and preventing the perfectly free action of the skin.

FOR THE HAIR.

To make the hair grow: Four ounces of alcohol, two ounces of castor oil, fifteen drops of the oil of bergamot. Apply with a brush night and morning.

A STRENGTHENING HAIR WASH.

One ounce of tincture of cantharides, one ounce and a half of olive oil, one ounce of rosemary. Shake all well together and apply to the roots of the hair with a small sponge once a week. Then rub the scalp with the finger tips till the grease has sunk into the skin.

THE PRESERVATION OF THE TEETH.

Five minutes' attention to the teeth every day will do much towards preserving them. They should be thoroughly brushed, night and morning, with a good tooth paste or powder, both inside and out, and the brush should be used with an up-and-down movement. When possible the mouth should be rinsed out after every meal. Don't use too hard a toothbrush—one with moderately hard bristles, and not too many of them, is the best. Once the bristles begin to fall out, the brush should be thrown away. When not in use, the toothbrush should stand on end with the bristles uppermost.

A SIMPLE TOOTH POWDER.

One ounce of precipitated chalk, a quarter of an ounce of powdered orris root, and the same quantity of soap powder. The latter must be procured from the chemist so as to ensure having the right kind of dentifrice. Mix the powder by passing it three times through a sieve, and it is ready for use.

FOR THIN PEOPLE.

To gain flesh, live largely on boiled meats, bread and butter, starchy vegetables, and cereals. Eggs are wonderfully good. Take two every morning before breakfast, raw, adding a suggestion of lemon-juice and salt and pepper to make them palatable.

BRUSH THE TEETH AT NIGHT.

It is far more important to brush the teeth before going to bed than it is on rising. People who are endowed with the fragile beauty of pearly teeth should be careful not to drink very hot liquids. An excellent means of preserving the teeth from decay is to pass a silk thread between them daily. If this be made a practice it will very soon become as indispensable an item in the toilet as the matutinal bath.

NEVER MEDDLE WITH THE EAR.

Never meddle with the ear if a foreign body enters it; leave it absolutely alone, but see that a doctor attends to it. More damage has been done by injudicious attempts at the extraction of a foreign body than could ever come from its presence in the ear.

TO REMOVE HARD SKIN.

To remove callous places on the elbow, every night soak them for ten minutes in warm water in which a teaspoonful of borax has been dissolved. Then carefully dry and rub with a good cold cream. If the habit of leaning on the elbows has been formed it should be broken immediately, as it is this habit that causes callous spots.

SOAPING THE SKIN.

Soap and water may make the skin clean, but friction is necessary to make it smooth, and exercise is necessary to make the flesh firm. After the bath the body should be dried with a soft towel, then with a Turkish one, and finally rubbed vigorously. Roughness of the skin is very frequently due to imperfect drying.

TREATMENT FOR ACNE.

Acne is quite common in young people. The skin glands are very active at that time. Digestive disturbances are sometimes a cause. Very often girls can help themselves in this trouble by improving the general health. A simple diet, outdoor exercise, and a daily bath will all aid you.

TO PREVENT TARTAR.

To prevent the appearance of tartar, eat freely of common cress. This will even loosen tartar if eaten two or three times a day successively for a week. The same effect is produced, though perhaps not in an equal degree, by eating strawberries and raspberries, especially the former. A leaf of common green sage rubbed on the teeth, night and morning, cleanses and polishes them beautifully.

HOW TO MAKE A POT POURRI.

Mix ½lb. common salt with ¼lb. saltpetre, ½oz. storax, 6 cloves, a handful of dried bay leaves, and another handful of dried lavender flowers. This basis of the pot pourri will last for years, and you may add to it annually petals of roses and of other fragrant flowers gathered on dry days, as fancy and opportunity may determine.

THE MANAGEMENT OF CHILDREN.

A BRIGHT NURSERY.

The very brightest and best room in the house should be used for the nursery, for little children, like tender plants, are very dependent on fresh air and sunshine. Brightness and cleanliness should be the keynote of the nursery, and there should be no unnecessary draperies and curtains, for they collect dust, and dust often breeds disease. Venetian blinds will serve to darken the room sufficiently without curtains, but if curtains be necessary for the sake of warmth, they should be taken down frequently to be shaken out of doors, and every few weeks they will be the better for being washed. Varnished papers, which can be washed with a damp cloth, are the best for the walls, and linoleum makes the nicest covering for the floor. On this should be spread a creeping rug for the baby, but the other little folks will not need a carpet.

TEETHING.

A healthy, well-managed child usually cuts his teeth without much difficulty. He may be somewhat hot and feverish, or have a slight relaxation of the bowels, but the disturbance lasts only a few days and soon passes off, when the pretty white line makes its appearance on the gum and the tooth is through. If the looseness of the bowels is of long duration, or approaches diarrhœa, or if the child has convulsions, a doctor should be summoned.

A CHILD'S BED.

Each child should have a bed to himself, and should not be deprived of the fresh air by masses of bed-drapery, which may be very beautiful but certainly not healthy.

ALLOWANCE OF SLEEP.

The allowance of sleep for a child six years old should be twelve hours, and during that time he should sleep soundly and naturally. If a child is restless or troubled in his sleep there is always some cause that may generally be corrected by a little care and forethought. Beside the matter of diet, be sure that the room is well ventilated, and that his bedclothes are not too heavy.

THE AFTERNOON NAP.

As a rule a child, if put to sleep, say, from 12 to 2, will awake bright and fresh, and, what is better still, will remain so all the rest of the day until his regular bedtime.

A BABY'S BATH.

A baby should not be allowed to remain too long in the bath. Two or three minutes are quite long enough. He should have time to splash about a little and to have the full sponge squeezed all over his body a few times, especially over his bowels and the parts adjacent. He should then be lifted out, wrapped in the towel, and gently rubbed till he is perfectly dry. When drying him, particular attention should be paid to the ears, the nostrils, the folds of the neck, and the groin, while all parts that are likely to be chafed should be powdered.

A BATH HINT.

A little milk added to baby's bath water will help to keep his skin soft and smooth, especially if the water used is hard. Use boiled water if rainwater cannot be obtained. Hard water that is boiled for twenty minutes and has a little oatmeal or milk added to it will be beautifully soft.

CHILDREN AND NIGHTMARE.

When a child has nightmare or night terrors his nervous system has been overtaxed in some way, either through too much excitement at play or through too heavy a supper. Highly nervous children are apt to have nightmare, and especially night terrors. They should never be startled out of their fears by shaking or being quickly or roughly awakened. Give the child a light supper—milk and bread, a plate of hot rice or a roasted potato. Put him to bed by half-past seven at the very latest, whether he is sleepy or not, and give him a chance to quiet down before he drops off to sleep.

MANAGING CHILDREN.

To secure cheerful obedience in children a mother should never give a command unless she expects to have it obeyed. Having given it, see that it is obeyed.

CHOCOLATE AS FOOD FOR CHILDREN.

How many parents recognise the value of chocolate as food for their children? If of a good quality, it contains all the essential qualities for body building, and being easily digested, will not hurt the weakest stomach. Those who can afford to do so should give their children a stick of chocolate every day, and a marked improvement in their young one's health will be noticed in a short time.

FOOTWEAR FOR CHILDREN.

Start the little ones off right. See that baby's first stockings and shoes do not restrain his feet in the slightest way, and do not let children wear shoes that are run down on one side. This will cause "bandiness" and other defects.

FOOD DURING THE FIRST YEAR.

An infant should be given no food containing starch until it cuts its teeth. Starchy foods include biscuits, cornflour, tapioca, sago, rice, potato, etc. An infant cannot digest any of these until its teeth are cut. During the first year of its existence the staple food of a child should be milk.

FOOD DURING THE SECOND YEAR.

The dietary of a child in its second year should be somewhat as follows: 7 a.m., half a pint of milk, taken with some infants' food, prepared groats, or barley jelly. 10 a.m., a teacupful of milk, bread and butter, the yolk of an egg lightly boiled, a little white fish, bread dipped in bacon-fat. 2 p.m., beef-tea, or broth made from mutton or chicken, with bread broken in it; white fish (if not given in the morning), bread and butter, or potato and butter, a cupful of milk, a tablespoonful of custard pudding or other light pudding. 6 p.m., bread and milk, or a little weak cocoa and milk, bread and butter, with a little marmalade or jelly, or a baked apple. 10 p.m., as a rule it saves trouble to give children under two a meal of milk and some infants' food at 10 p.m. before the mother retires for the night. This prevents them waking up hungry in the night.

DIET FROM TWO TO FIVE YEARS.

From two to five years the above dietary may be supplemented by giving for dinner one of the following dishes: Breast of chicken, a larger amount of fish, the underdone eye of a chop, a little piece of underdone steak, roast meat, boiled meat, also a more liberal supply of vegetables. Children of this age may have bananas, cooked apples, soft pears, grapes, stone fruit (if well stewed and the skins and stones removed), and occasionally a few strawberries; but no figs or other fruits with seeds, as the small seeds are apt to irritate the bowels and often set up internal trouble. Up to the age of five but little butcher's meat should be given, and children should always be encouraged to take the natural fat with the meat.

DIET OVER FIVE YEARS.

For children above the age of five, especially those who go to school, it is generally necessary to arrange meals to suit lesson hours. If it can be arranged, the children should have a glass of milk and a slice of bread and butter at eleven, and dinner at 1 or 1.30. Parents who send their children to boarding-schools should be careful to see that the school diet is sufficiently varied. It must be plain and nourishing, but the result of having the same kind of meals every day is very likely to be loss of appetite and diminished nutrition.

THE DRESS OF CHILDREN.

Do not put stays of any kind on your children before the age of fourteen or fifteen; until then a light-fitting band of jean, sufficient to support the under-clothing comfortably, is all that is needed to preserve the grace and contour of the figure. During childhood the bones are comparatively plastic, and undue stricture or pressure of any kind is liable to produce deformity. Beware therefore, of impeding or spoiling the development of the form by artificial bandages, whether corsets, garters, waist-strings, or an excess of weight hung from the hips. Many mothers make a mistake by over-clothing their children. All that is necessary is to keep the child warm and see that the clothing is as light as possible.

ADVICE TO PARENTS.

Never use violent language or violent gestures to a child, for if you do you will frighten him into being untruthful, for lies are the refuge of the weak, and especially of the young, who do not realise the enormity of the offence. A child who is frequently punished, and who is scolded violently, will use the readiest means to save himself, and lying seems to him to be the surest means and the easiest, especially if he knows that his elders prevaricate.

FREEDOM FOR INFANTS.

While your children are still infants let them roll and tumble about on the floor as much as and in what fashion they please. Do not be too anxious to set them on their legs, otherwise you will run the risk of imposing a strain on the bones and muscles of the lower limbs that may induce feebleness of the ankles, curvature of the thighs and legs, and similar evils. When they begin to get strong, and to acquire the power of control over their limbs, accustom them to the use of rhythmic exercise of the arms, legs, and body.

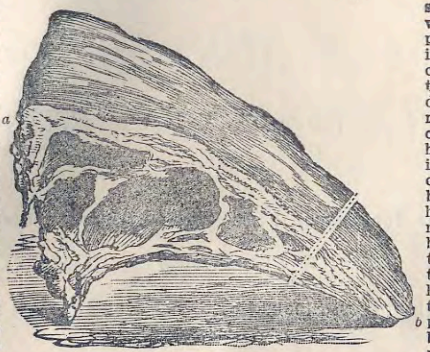

THE TRAINING OF CHILDREN.

Those whose duty it is to supervise the growth and development of children should do their best to find out their inherited peculiarities of mind and body. In this way weak points may be strengthened and strong points will run no risk of being misunderstood. We cannot begin too early to do this. While evil tendencies of body and mind are potentialities or mere tendencies, something may be done to modify them; after they have become actual tangible things it is usually too late.

KITCHEN AIDS FOR COOK AND CARVER.

HOW TO CARVE RIBS OF BEEF.

To carve ribs of beef a sharp knife is necessary, and if it be run along between the meat and the bones the carving will be more quickly and neatly done. The slices should be thin, and cut from a to b, as shown in the illustration. Unless this is well carved it is a wasteful joint, and it is more economical to cut the end off to a greater extent than is usually done, or it becomes dry and overdone by the time the thick part is cooked. This can be boiled fresh or salted separately, or with another lean piece of meat; and if the two are cooked and eaten together a very good dish for breakfast may be had at little cost and trouble. If, however, the butcher is requested, he will cut the ribs short before sending it home, but a trifle more per pound must be paid for it if the thin end is not taken. The dotted line in the illustration indicates the portion which may be advantageously removed.

COOKING AND CARVING A SADDLE OF MUTTON.

If the saddle of mutton is not for a large family get the joint well trimmed; the flap, tails, and chump end may be cut away, which will considerably lessen the weight, and be found more advantageous to the purchaser, even at a higher price per pound, or the flap will make a plain stew. Roast as you would a loin of mutton, to a nice brown but not too dark. Good gravy and jelly must not be omitted. The diagram shows the mode of carving which is quite simple if you follow the dotted lines. Relays of hot plates and gravy should be in readiness, and very little gravy should be in the dish. A hot water dish as used for venison, is best to serve mutton on.
